The Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA,
TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20.

The following articles were published in a Postscript to yesterday's Gazette. The intelligence was received at too late an hour to accompany the first thousand of our impression. And as many of our Readers, of course, have not read it, it is for that reason inserted to-day, along with further extracts from London papers.

LONDON, October 1.

By the Prince of Wales packet, which brought over the mail, dispatches of considerable importance were received from sir Morton Eden at Vienna. Captain Sutton, the Commander of the packet, came with them himself, and arrived this morning at Lord Grenville's office.

These dispatches, we are informed, contain the pleasing confirmation of admiral Nelson having taken 15 sail of the line, some frigates, and 40 transports, and that two sail of the line only had escaped into the port of Malta. The dispatches were immediately forwarded to Lord Grenville at Dropmore, and copies of them to Mr. Pitt at Holwood. The news will probably be announced officially by a letter to the Lord Mayor—if in time for post, we shall stop the press to insert it.

This day a mail arrived from Hamburg, which brings some intelligence from Constantinople respecting the French fleet.—According to these accounts, Admiral Nelson found it in the harbor of Alexandria; but the Bay of Begnieres, formerly mentioned as the place of action, is only a little to the eastward of Alexandria; and this disagreement in the accounts does not invalidate the truth of an action having taken place. Indeed this is confirmed by the accounts from Rhodes, by which it appears that some of the French frigates which had escaped from being captured by our fleet, had been seized by the Turks upon entering that harbour, in consequence of orders previously received from the Porte, which may now be considered as having commenced hostilities against France, or rather as having retaliated on her for the first aggression.

Saturday noon some Dispatches were received at the Duke of Portland's Office, at Whitehall, from the Commandant at Jersey, brought over to the Isle of Wight by the regular packet. Every thing was quiet at that and the other islands when this vessel sailed. At St. Maloes and the adjacent sea ports of France, there was a general calm, and no appearance of preparations of any sort.

On Saturday, orders were sent to Portsmouth by the Telegraph, for the 44th regiment of foot, quartered at Hilsea barracks to embark immediately on board the Weymouth armed transport, and hold itself in readiness for foreign service.

By the Prince of Wales packet, which brought over the mail, dispatches of consi~~derable importance were received from~~ Sir Morton Eden at Vienna. Captain Sutten, the commander of the packet, came with them himself, and arrived this morning at Lord Grenville's Office.

These dispatches, we are informed, contain the pleasing confirmation of Admiral Nelson having defeated the French fleet, off Alexandria, taken 15 sail of the line, some frigates, and 40 transports, and that two sail of the line only had escaped into the port of Malta. The dispatches were immediately forwarded to Lord Grenville at Dropmore, and copies of them to Mr. Pitt at Holwood. The news will probably be announced officially by a letter to the Lord Mayor—if in time for post, we shall stop the press to insert it.

DESTRUCTION
THE FRENCH FLEET
IN
THE MEDITERRANEAN,
BY ADMIRAL NELSON.

We stop the press to insert the following letter sent this afternoon, from the Secretary of State's Office, for the information of the Gentlemen o Lloyd's Coffee-house:

"Sir Morton Eden's letter of the 15th "of last month, gives an account, that the "Mutine cutter ha arrived at Naples on "the 3d from Sir H. Nelson, and that "the Commander hd reported that ALL "THE FRENCH LINE OF BATTLE SHIPS, excepting two, had either been BURNT, SUNK, or DESTROYED. This intelligence had been given to hm by the Neapolitan Charge d'Affaires to whom it had been sent from Trieste, y Prince Belmonte, and who stated that he had received it by a Messenger from Naples."

Semonville and Miet, who were arrested in the Grisons, in 173, and sent to Mantua, have obtained, frm the Legislature of the Cisalpine Republ, an indemnification of 300,000 livres, t be levied upon the property of the Chie of the Grisons, in the Valteline.

Count Cobenzel in his journey from Petersburgh to Vienna, went out of his way for the purpose of visiting Mittau, where he had a secret conferen with the Count de St. Priest, Prime Minister of Louis XVIII. which lasted two hou. He only saw his Majesty, however, in public. This visit appears so contrary to the part which Count Cobenzel has acted for some years past, particularly at Udina and Campo Formio, that it affords grounds for any conjectures very different from those which have arisen from the former conduct of the Austrian Minister.

The deputation of the Empire has consented to cede the Island of Peter's Ave, in the Rhine, to France, as was mentioned in the last Mail, but requires the restoration of Khel and Castel. This conclusum was ratified on the 11th ult. and delivered to the French ministers.

The Genoese have had their 18th Fructidor! The directory has triumphed over the legislative body—ten members of the Great Council, and five of the Council of Elders have been forced to resign.

The Swiss inhabitants who had persisted in refusing to take the oaths required by the new ruling power, and had armed in their own defence, were defeated on the 9th ult with great slaughter. The battle was obstinately contested and lasted from 5 in the morning till 6 in the evening.

The Amphion frigate, in company with the Speedwell brig, has captured a vessel of about 200 tons burthen, laden with hemp, iron, and other naval stores, bound from Petersburgh to Amsterdam, supposed to be worth 10,000l.—The prize is arrived at Yarmouth.

The rich Spanish packet Edadd'Oro, taken by the Lord Hawke privateer, at two miles distance from the Lighthouse of Corunna, as proved by the evidence of the Spanish captain and mates, and of course within random shot of the batteries, is become a point of litigation by his majesty's ships La Nymphe and Aurora, although nothing more of the frigates than the first reef of the topsails could be seen from the deck of the Lord Hawke at the time, and the weather very clear—the Nymphe about 16 miles to the westward and to windward, and the Aurora about the same distance to leeward.

During the last week, twenty-eight ships arrived in the port of London from the Leeward Islands.

An order has been sent from the admiralty to the port admiral at Spithead, for the usual precautions at the setting in of the winter half year. The harbour nightly rowers are, the approaching season, to be augmented to eight instead of four; the duty to be performed alternately by the boats of the squadron, and officers from their respective ships. A large gun-boat is to be stationed off St. Helen's Point, and two small cutters to cruise from thence from the close of the day till day light the succeeding morning.

In consequence of information having been received by government that the French had prepared several vessels of various descriptions, with combustibles, for the purpose of setting fire to our ships at Spithead, as well a those in the harbor, and to Portsmouth dock-yard, orders have been received by the guardships at St. Helen's, &c. to examine every vessel that arrives, and to detain such as are in the least suspicious.

There are now at Cherbourg seventeen gun-brigs, eighteen flats, and one corvette ready for sea, besides several vessels of various descriptions in preparation. Almost every day the greater number of the prepared armament manœuvre within the Cones—but, though the Camilla, of 20 guns, has in general been the only vessel we have had off that port, they have not ventured out to attack her. They have of late frequently exchanged shot with her, but never out of reach of their batteries.

The French force at Havre is daily increasing, and will doubtless be speedily much augmented, in consequence of the arrival of a convoy yesterday week, which comprised five ships, said to be laden with naval stores.

On the late approaches of our ships to Havre, the enemy formed two lines, the first consisting of five frigates, with two other heavy ships, and the second line containing two large corvettes and several smaller vessels.

CORK, September 23.

An express has arrived from Bantry, mentioning that an English frigate arrived there, the captain of which states, that he had descried at sea, a French fleet consisting of two ships of the line, and seven frigates steering to the westward. He said he had left a sloop of war to watch their motions, while he came with intelligence respecting them to admiral Kingsmill.

PLYMOTH, September 29.

This morning arrived in Cawsand Bay, his Majesty's ship Stag, of 32 guns, Captain York, and the Ambuscade, of 32 guns, Captain Jenkins; these are the ships which were left dodging the French fleet that lately sailed from Brest, but we have not yet heard any particulars respecting them.

PORTSMOUTH, September 28

Last night arrived his Majesty's ship Eurydice, and Seagull sloop of war, from the coast of France, where, with two gun-vessels they have been eight weeks blocking up in the Isles de Rhehat a convoy of 23 vessels, laden with naval stores and gunpowder, bound from St. Maloes to Brest, under escort of a National corvette of 20 guns, and two cutters of 16 guns each, which station they were obliged to quit, being out of water and provisions, a circumstance that it is feared will give the convoy an opportunity of shipping out, and reaching their destined port. This Isle is very near the seven Islands and not a great way from St Moloes, where this convoy took shelter.

Captain Talbot took a Frenchman out of a prize which he had discovered foundering at Sea, who informed him, that on Monday the 18th inst. near Brest, two French line of battle ships, and 11 frigates, passed the vessel he was taken in, under English colours, steering for the coast of Ireland—they had troops on board but what number he could not tell. He further gave information, that the French papers had announced the death of Buonaparte, after landing in Egypt.

CHATHAM, September 27.

The Marines are found to be so very useful on board the respective ships, that it is thought proper to augment those corps; recruits are accordingly daily coming into the Marine barracks here, in order to be trained to their exercise.

SHEERNESS, September 30.

Yesterday arrived the Andromache, of 32 guns, captain Mansfield, having under convoy the homeward bound fleet from Elsineur, consisting of 74 sail; also the Circe frigate of 28 guns, captain Winthrop. She has brought in five sail of Greenland ships, and six large Dutch schuyts, captured during her last cruize, in a 63, 65, long 5, 3. There is no doubt but the Greenland ships will be valuable prizes. They contain 56 whales, and large quantities of blubber.

Sailed the Victor sloop, of 18 guns, captain Rennie, for Harwich, to be repaired; and the Nerva Russian ship, of 32 guns, for Yarmouth to proceed thence to join Lord Duncan's fleet.

BALLINA, September 24.

We have been here for some time in the greatest dread of being destroyed by the rebels; but now, thank God, we are extricated from those fears—A fore defeat has been given to the deluded wretches by his majesty's army, in which above 1,000 of them were killed between this place and Foxford. In this vicinity they had committed great depredation. On entering houses they first drank any wine they could get, then destroyed the furniture, and even the gardens, and afterwards carried off all plunder that was portable to Killala. They were going to hang Calonel, whose house they plundered. Some of the French who lately landed at Killala were found among them, and are now prisoners.

Rastadt Sept. 12.

The Deputation of the Empire, on the 10th, voted its conclusum in answer to the last French note, which is the same in substance that it was expected to be. The Deputation consents to cede the island Peter's-Ave, but requires the restoration of Kehland Castle. This conclusum was, on the 11th. ratified, and delivered as a note to the French Minister, by the Austrian Plenipotentiary. The latter, however still declares that Austria will never consent to any demand on the right bank of the Rhine, nor accede to any such concession by the Deputation.

GENOA, Sept. 1.

We have now likewise had our 18th of Fructidor. Yesterday ten Members of our Great Council, and five of the Council of Elders, were obliged to resign their posts. The dispute between the Legislative Body and the Directory is thus ended with a complete triumph on the part of the latter.

BASLE, Sept. 11.

The inhabitants of the Canton of Underwald, determined to persist in their refusal of taking the oaths, intrenched themselves in a very advantageous situation near Stantz where, on the 9th inst. they were attacked by General Schauenberg, with a large train of artillery. One body of French crossed the lake and landed near Stantz, and another marched over the mountains, by which means the insurgents were surrounded; they however defended themselves with the most obstinate valour. At length, notwithstanding, they were obliged to give way, and all their artillery, ammunition, &c. fell into the hands of the victors; their loss is estimated at 1,500 besides wounded. The town of Stantz was almost wholly destroyed.

The following is General Schuaenberg's letter:

Head-quarters, Lucern, July 9th
6 h. 15 m. P. M.

"You will learn with pleasure, citizen directors, that victory has remained faithful to the republicans. We have occupied the district of Staetz, after a battle which lasted from five o'clock this morning until now: all that afflicts me is that this day has cost much blood, but we had to do with rebels, whom it was necessary to reduce.—Health and consideration. (Signed)

"SCHAUBNBERG."

The general is now about to enter the Canton of Schwitz. He has published, that if the inhabitants surrender at discretion, the troops shall preserve good order; but that if they make the least resistance, they shall be treated as were those of Underwald.

In a note lately delivered to the councils of the Grisons, is the following remarkable passage: "Baron Cronthal, Imperial Charge d'Affaires, has assured us, amicably and officially, that the Emperor was resolved to interpose in favour of the independence of the Grisson league, and of the maintenance of their laws: that he would take under his protection those who defend his Independence, especially if he was desired to do so by the three leagues united."

HUNGARY, September 9.

The accounts received from Semlin that the Porte on the 18th of August had declared war, against France, at Constantinople, with the usual ceremonies by hoisting the bloody flag, is premature. Orders have, however, been sent through all the Turkish provinces, requiring, in the name of God and the Prophet, all Musselmen capable of bearing arms, to repair to the standard, and assist in defending the just cause of the Porte. A Tartar has arrived with this declaration at Belgrade, where the war banner is already displayed. According to these letters, the exportation of provisions from the Turkish Empire is forbidden; and large magazines of provisions and forage will be established.

NEW-YORK, November 19.

A GLORIOUS CONFIRMATION.

By capt White, from Hamburgh, we have the moſt complete aſſurance of the DEFEAT of the Fleet of Buonaparte by Admiral Nelſon. On his way, captain White touched at Yarmouth, and on the 5th of October went on board Admiral Duncan's ſhip. This intelligence had been received OFFICIALLY at the Admiralty Office, and in conſequence the moſt enthuſiaſtic rejoicings had taken place through the whole fleet, and throughout England. Thus are our painful uncertainties once at an end—the high-creſted pride of the once Terrible Republic humbled and her all-graſping ambition completely checked. The tide of fortune is now turned, that huge Monſter, who arrogantly ſtiles herſelf the Great Nation and who till this moment threatened to entomb in her devouring maw all the nations of the earth, will ere long be forced to contract within her own den her enormous member—perhaps be torn to pieces by the fury of her united and enraged neighbors, and her mangled limbs ſcattered in the air which ſhe has polluted by her horrible blaſphemies—or buried in the deepeſt caverns of the earth which is drunk with the innocent blood ſhe has inhumanly ſhed.

Snowden's D. Ad.

Where are the inſolent freebooters of the Great Nation that a few months ago uſed to infeſt our coaſts and even inſult our very harbours?—They are brushed away—at once—by our infant navy. Formerly, every veſſel that had the good fortune to eſcape theſe pirates that ſwarmed around us for prey, brought us intelligence the moſt galling of a nation that boaſted of its independence, and talked largely of its courage. Our preſent ſpirited meaſures have in ſome meaſure wiped off the foul diſgrace of our former tameneſs—while their immediate and ſenſible effects muſt flaſh conviction of their wiſdom on every mind not blended by a criminal prejudice.—Look at your ſhores——In June, lined with plundering picaroons—but, in November, not a hoſtile flag to be ſeen within their view. Think ſeriouſly on this glaring fact, fellow-citizens—and remember in future to reject the counſel of thoſe, who, under the pretence of economy, kept you ſo long the easy prey of a foe, whoſe inſolence and depredations it was in your power ſo much earlier to have checked. ib.

All the candidates for public officers in Virginia, who ſtile themſelves pure Rupublicans, are in the habit of addreſſing the People in this canting language;—"I am a patriot of 76—I ſtill hold to the principles of 76"—We believe them for once—we believe they ſpeak the language of their very ſouls.—for—Revolution—REVOLUTION is their DARLING WISH. To this bloody Moloch they would ſacrifice all their neighbour's property—the ſweets of ſocial enjoyment—the authority of law—the venerable inſtitutions of religion—and the multiplied and incalculable bleſſings of an equal and ſtable government. ib.

PHILADELPHIA,

TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20.

By an arrival at Baltimore the following is received:

October 5th we took a pilot at Spithead, to navigate the veſſel through the Needles, who informed us, that he had ſeen the Gazette of the 3d, which contained an account of Admiral Nelſon having fell in with the French fleet near the mouth of the Nile, and after an action of 3 days had captured nine ſail of the line, ſunk two, and that only two ſhips of the line and two frigrtes had eſcaped. The officer who brought the information, ſtated that when he left the fleet Admiral Nelſon was employed in burning and deſtroying the tranſports.

Oct. 7. Spoke the ſhip Reſolution, of London, which ſailed from Spithead the 5th, the captain of which had been on ſhore and obtained the paper containing the above ſtated information.

REFLECTIONS

Upon the approaching Seſſion of Congreſs.

IN the courſe of two weeks, the Grand Council of the Nation—the auguſt aſſemblage of the collected Dignity of the Country, are again to meet together. They meet to fix the fortune or to ſeal the ruin of this great Empire. On their deciſions hang ſuſpended greater conſequences than ever before fell to the lot of an equal number of men to decide on. Every member brings, or ought to bring with him to Congreſs, an added ſtock of information, and of that kind, too, which, derived from experience, is of all others the moſt profitable.

The majority have, during the receſs, beheld the ſalutary effects of thoſe meaſures in which they prevailed by dint of labor and the moſt obſtinate perſeverance, againſt a gigantic oppoſition.

Experience, in the loud and penetrating tone of reproof, has admoniſhed the minority of the fatal tendency of their errors,—it has uttered, unceaſingly, a warning cry, to deter them from perſeverance in thoſe devious paths through which they would have led their country to ruin,—it has convinced them, (if they are honeſt) that to unite their endeavors with thoſe whoſe ſuperior diſcernment, the teſt of time has eſtabliſhed, in ſupport of the dignity and honor of the nation (her only intereſt) is now the ſole atonement left in their power, for the multitude of evils and the heavy oppreſſions with which their obſtinacy in error has burthened their country.

The period of the receſs has abounded in events of immenſe magnitude—Events, each of which, gaining in progreſſive importance on the laſt, furniſhes alone wide range for wonder.

In almoſt all of theſe our country has had a large ſhare of intereſt: in many of them ſhe has figured as a principal. From theſe in particular, are to be drawn irrefragable evidences of the wiſdom of adminiſtration, its prudence, its foreſight, its penetration, its patriotiſm. They prove to oppoſition tha their reſiſtance to arming the merchantmen, was ill-timed and impolitic—that their objections to a Naval Eſtabliſhment, were frivolous and nugatory—that their reliance on the juſtice and honor of France, was ſhort-ſighted and illuſory—and that the obſtructions thrown in the way of efficient meaſures and bottomed on that reliance, tended, conſequently, to ruin.

While in the minds of oppoſition, a forcible appeal is made to penitence and contrition, the cauſe of Government acquires new motives to continued and encreaſed energy. The Federaliſts, abandoning all tame and half-way meaſures, ſhould act with a zeal worthy their cauſe and their country. Let us no longer "peep our ſwords half-out their ſcabbards,"—but draw them forth and brandiſh them to vengeance. In other words fix the country in a ſettled and poſitive ſtate by immediately declaring war—Since all our degrading efforts to obtain peace have reſulted in added degradation. Since not even a ſolemn embaſſy of the moſt eminent ſtateſmen of America,—Since not even the labors of Doctor George Logan could effect it.

But unleſs the majority continue to diſplay an unceaſing watchfulneſs and care, combined with encreaſing energy and action, and if the minority, bent reſolutely on the ruin of their country, perſiſt in their criminal courſes, it is not difficult to affix a date to the diſſolution and downfall of the commonwealth.

This is a caſe, however, in which we have every thing to hope. Diſappointment while it croſſes men's tempers often irritates into action emotions before unknown to the poſſeſſors. It alſo contributes to break down the barriers between a man's wiſdom and his pride—it diſpels his infallibility, and awakens his common ſenſe. It humbles his vanity, and while it tells him he has been wrong, convinces him he may be wrong again. If the operation of theſe cauſes on the minority, ſhould lead them to forego in the patriotic duty of preſerving their country, the ſweets of oppoſition; and if the majority, availing themſelves of their triumphs, to embolden them in enterprize, ſhould act with a vigour worthy of the events which depend on it, the country may yet outlaſt the ephemeral illuſions of Gallic Republicaniſm.

The people of America have long been abuſed by a deteſtable banditti of foreign invaders, who through the medium of the preſs have found conſtant means of libelling truth and honeſty, defaming with vile ſlanders the faireſt and moſt virtuous characters, and of aſſaulting with ceaſeleſs and envenomed malice and ſcurrility every officer of government, the form of government itſelf, and the character and principles of the whole American people. To this cauſe alone is to be attributed the origin and continuation of that ardor prava or bad temper of irritation and ferment which has unceaſingly ſhewn itſelf in one quarter or other of the country, which has broken out into formidable and threatening inſurrection, and more than once menaced the exiſtence of government, and the freedom and independence of the country.

Whoever will take the trouble to review the affairs of this country for the laſt ten years, will not fail to ſee the force and operation of this influence moſt fully and fatally exemplified.

To trace the growth of it and to expoſe the leading actors, would be an uſeful and profitable taſk; reſerving this, however, for a time of ſafety, it is eſſential that we ſubſtitute active vigor and zeal in dragging theſe venemous reptiles from their lurking holes, for idle and inefficient ſpeculations on the evils we daily ſee them produce. It is vain any longer to think of effecting a reformation by argumentative appeals to the reaſon and humanity of a ſet of miſcreants who poſſeſs neither. Let them be brought to the bar of public juſtice, and made to anſwer its demands. That man merits the civic crown who drags even one of theſe reptiles forth to light; and let no gentleman be deterred from the attempt by any conſiderations ariſing from the contemptible nature of their characters, their groveling meanneſs or baſe depravity; while the important fact exiſts, that baſe and deſpicable as they are, there are thouſands weak enough to be influenced by their machinations.

Who but remembers the torpid ſtate in which we ſlumbering lay, when the warning voice of Mr. Adams, firſt rouſed us to behold the gigantic dangers which threatened and ſurrounded us? Who but remembers the conſternation produced by the war ſpeech, and the howlings of the jacobins at that timely alarm? They had till then ſucceeded in ſtifling the ſpirit of the country; a milk-hearted diſpoſition had baniſhed every noble, every generous emotion, and except in the breaſts of the unpolluted few, baſeneſs every where lorded it. That ſpell, that charm which confined to inaction, the beſt energies of the country, they ſaw he had broken, and their hopes of riot and ruin fell in deſpair. Then was laid the axe to the root of jacobiniſm—the tree has ſince continually withered; its very trunk is undermined, and the ſcattered branches laid proſtrate on the earth, whence they emit their hollow, ruſtling ſounds, unheeded as the murmuring wind, except by ſouls ſo vapid and inane as to want capacity to trace the connection between a cauſe and its conſequences.

Citizen D. Clarke,

IT has often been the lot of this Gazette to warn the people of the United States againſt thoſe underhanded conſpiracies which we had reaſon to know were forming during the laſt eighteen months, on the ruins of the Democratic Societies. The following, on which we have not time to make thoſe reflections the occaſion demands, ſufficiently juſtifies all our apprehenſions.

Democratic Myſtery Unravelled.

It is with great ſatisfaction we acquaint our readers that the Notes robbed from the Bank of Pennſylvania at the commencement of the Fever, have been recovered, to within four thouſand dollars of the whole amount, which there is alſo a further proſpect of getting hold of.

It appears that one Iſaac Davis, a Carpenter, and a noted Democrat, in conjunction with a Porter belonging to the Bank, who died of the Fever, were the ſole agents in this nefarious buſineſs. Davis had ſet up his carriage and pair, and pretended that an Indiaman had arrived at New-York, in which he ſent out an adventure. On the death of his accomplice, he took the whole of the caſh, (of which a dividend had been made) into his poſſeſſion, and was detected by means of the large depoſits he had made in each of the Banks.

N. B. Citizen Davis has made off.

Beſides five or ſix frigates and other ſmall veſſels.

There were beſides, three other frigates, which ſail ed three days after to join him.

The force of the French Fleet cannot be ſo accurately aſcertained, though there is every reaſon to ſuppoſe that it conſiſted of the ſame number of ſhips which ſailed from Toulon, as the enemy could have no particular reaſon for leaving out two ſhips behind. The following is a liſt of the French Fleet which ſailed from Toulon, and which we ſuppoſe may have been in the action ſtated to have taken place.

Brueys, Vice Admiral, commander; Villeneuve, rear-admiral; Dumanbir, Chief of Diviſion, commanding the convoy.

L'Orient	120	Captain Caſſa Biancha

1026 Guns.

FRIGATES.

La Diane	40	Captain Peyret
La Juſtice	40	Villeneuve
La Junon	40	Pourquier
La Arthemiſe	40	Standelet
L'Alceſte	40	Barrey
La Fortune	36	Marchand

BRIGS

Le Corceiere	14	Captain Reynaud
Le Lodi	12	Sennequier

FLUTES.

Le Dubois	Captain
Le Cauſe	L'Allemaud
La Senſible	Bourdet
Le Meuiron	Maillet
Le Cature	Frichet
Le Leoben	Collete
La Mantoue	Guiens
Le Montenot	Tempier.

From the above liſt it will be ſeen that the two fleets were very nearly matched in reſpect to the number of guns mounted on board the ſhips of the line.

[To the French force, however, ſhould be added eight or ten other veſſels, joined from Venice, Malta, &c.]

ARRIVED.	DAYS
Ship John Bulkley, Volans, Batavia	112

The ſhip Diana, White, has arrived at New-York, in 51 days from Hamburg.

Baltimore, November 24.

Arrived yeſterday, ſhip Sally, from the Havanna.

Captain Gardner, of the ſhip Carrollton, ſent us up the following laſt evening from North-Point, where his ſhip got a-ground. He likewiſe politely favored us with a number of Engliſh, German and French papers, but their contents have been anticipated

Extract from the log book of the ſhip Carrollton, capt Gardner, from Hamburg.

Left Hambugh the 3d September, and Cuxhaven the 7th, in company with the ſhip Albemarle, Muſchalk, of and for New York; brig ——, M'Kever, of and for Philadelphia; and ſch Phœnix, Gale, of and for Boſton. In coming out, ſaw a large, and to appearance, American built ſhip, on the ſhoals of Newark; maſts and bowſprit gone, high quarter deck, and T. G forecaſtle, five ports of a ſide viſible on the main-deck, head and galleries, burniſhed ſides and yellow mouldings. Suppoſe all hands muſt have periſhed, as ſhe went on ſhore the 25th Auguſt, in the ſevereſt gale ever known on that coaſt. Left at Hamburg the following veſſels; ſhip Iris, Neilſon of Baltimore; Waſhington, Foſter, do Active, Storey, do. Roſe, Edwards, do Mary, Nye, do. brig Betſey, ——, do ſhip Elizabeth, Prince, Philadelphia; Little Margaret, —— Arethuſa, Guthrie, New York; Franklin, Bunce, do Ocean, Coffin, do. ſnow Three ſiſters, ——, do. brig ——, Shoemaker, do Columbia, Weeks, do. (ſailed for Amſterdam); ſhip Diana, White, do. Abigail, Hammond, Boſton; brig Betſey, Field, do. ——, Higginſon, do. ſchooner Liberty, Jones, do. ſhip John, Putnam, Salem. Brig ——, Mark, of do. ſailed in company for Gottenburg. The 25th September, off Portland, was hailed in the night by a ſchooner and ſloop, full of men, which we took to be French privateers; ſeeing we ſhowed a tier of guns, politely in broken Engliſh, wiſhed us good night, and ſheered off. The 21ſt ſpoke a ſmall coppered brig, either the Jane or James, 8 days from Philadelphia, bound to Hamburg. The 24th took our departure from Lands-End; the 28th, ſaw a fleet of 14 ſail of men of war, bearing S. which we took to be Britiſh—then in lat. 44 40. N. and long eaſt of the city of Waſhington, 64. At day light the next morning, ſaw a brig to windward, ſtanding to the eaſtward, under eaſy ſail—wind N. N. E. At 8, A. M. he wore ſhip, and made ſail after us. At 9 fired a gun to leeward, and hoiſted French colors; at half paſt 9 fired two more guns, with ſhot—and then fired a gun to leeward, and hoiſted American colors; at 10 he brought us to, ſent his boat on board, and ordered me on board the privateer with my papers. Capt. A. Coffin (an a paſſenger, who ſpeaks the French language, was polite enough to accompany me, as interpreter, when we underwent an examination, of 5 hours, in which time they very ſtrictly examined the papers, meaſured the eagle with compaſſes, and obſerved an eraſement in my regiſter, which induced them to beleive it was falſe. They had ſeveral things, as alſo genuine American regiſters, with which they compared mine. After the examination, I was ordered on board my ſhip, telling me they intended ſending me to France, and that I might go with the paſſengers in the ſhip; my crew was taken on board the privateer and a prize maſter and crew ſent on board the ſhip, with orders to proceed to Bordaux. Capt. C. was detained on board the privateer to the laſt moment, and when they found they could not make a prize of the ſhip, they ſent by him my papers and alſo ſent my crew on board again, and took their own people out. They took with them, (and as they ſaid, by order of the captain) a barrel of powder, a large hog, and ſeveral other articles—from capt. Coffin, his favorite and valuable ſpy glaſs, and ſome other articles from the reſt of the paſſengers. After they had reluctantly delivered up the ſhip, they told us their privateer was called the Decidi of Bordeaux, mounted 18 ſix pounders, had 200 men, was commanded by captain Brielle—that ſhe had been out 14 days, and left the river of Bordeaux in company with ſeveral American veſſels, bound home. The 19th October, in lat. 32, 30 N. and long 26, E of Waſhington, ſpoke the ſchooner Orange, Wheaton, from Providence (R. I.) bound to Surrinam, 13 days out, all well. 31ſt. lat. 36, 10. N and long. 14. E of Waſhington, ſpoke the brig Nancy, of and from Hudſon, bound to Surrinam. 4 days out from Sandy-Hook. November 8th, ſaw Cape-Henry, and took a pilot. The 9th, ſaw the United States frigate Conſtellation, captain Truxton, in Hampton Roads, lately arrived from the Havanna with a fleet under convoy. Spoke off Point Comfort, captain Smith, bound to Gibraltar. Yeſterday ſpoke the Hampton of Baltimore, at anchor off Annapolis. In working the ſhip up the river, with wind N. W. the pilot, —— Tepleman, of Potowmac, run the ſhip a-ground on the Rock Knowls, North-Point, bearing N. E. and the rocks W. S. W. Ship ſtill a-ground, Tueſday 3 P. M.

THE publication of this uſeful little work has been retarded, this year, beyond its uſual time by the late melancholy viſitation. As ſoon as it was ſafe to return to the City, and the Printer could get his hands together, the work was reſumed; and it is with pleaſure that the Editor has now to inform his friends and the public in general, that it will be compleated and publiſhed the firſt week in December.

A CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
JOHN A. SHAEFFER, of Philadelphia, who has for a few years paſt been in the ſouthern States, has had the effrontery to draw ſeveral Bills of Exchange on Timothy Pickering, Eſq. Secretary of State, and myſelf, and by that means has defrauded a number of perſons of their money, deceiving them by an exhibition of letters and papers with the names affixed of divers public characters and reputable merchants highly recommendatory of ſaid Shaeffer; to one of theſe papers I find my name ſubſcribed, but I do not know the man; theſe are villainous forgeries! To prevent further impoſition, I have to requeſt the printers of Newſpapers in the United States to publiſh this for the benefit of their fellow-citizens. SAMUEL MEREDITH,
Treaſurer of the United States

"The inroads upon our public liberty, call for reparation—The wrongs we have ſuſtained, call for—Juſtice. That Reparation and that Juſtice, may yet be obtained, by Union, Spirit, and Firmneſs. But to divide and conquer was the maxim of the Devil in the garden of Eden, and to diſunite and enſlave hath been the principle of all his votaries from that period to the preſent."
